

GOBELINS 2021 Entrance Exam Admission Jury Report
Prépa GOBELINS Animation - Bachelor of Arts in ANIMATION

The 421 eligible applicants were all invited to an oral interview organised between Thursday April 8th and Thursday 16th. They were divided into 10 different juries (42 per jury) taking into account their mark obtained on the Tumblr so that each jury had an equivalent panel of profiles.

During the interview, the applicants were asked to speak about the context in which they carried out the works presented in their Tumblr, the reasons that made them choose the 5 images (of which they are not the authors). In addition, each applicant was invited to share their study project with the jury and to explain the reasons why GOBELINS can enable them to achieve their goal. Everyone has expressed their wish to be part of the international class, or not. Interviews were conducted entirely in English for non-French speaking candidates and partially in English for all others.

The profiles of the candidates were of high quality and variety, the majority were convincing, and it was very difficult for each jury to decide between them. The question of constituting a group of complementary profiles has therefore been more than ever the final criterion for constituting the list of admitted candidates.

Profiles of the 56 admitted candidates to the Bachelor of Arts in ANIMATION =>

- 35 female student and 21 male student
- 22 nationalities including 14 students from outside the European Union
- 18 are currently in High School (General curriculum and Technological, often specialized in an Artistic tracks for international students)

- 7 have started studies in a field other than Arts

- 4 obtained a derogation to apply (compulsory military service or re-orientation)

6 people are on the waiting list for the French-speaking class and 12 for the English-speaking class, because the dropout rate is higher for international students, due to the sanitary context and to the issuing of visas in some countries.
